Dear Parents/Guardians

The Children's Commissioner has recently released an excellent online resource aimed at supporting parents to discuss challenging topics with their children.

The areas of focus include:

- Pornography
- Sharing of nude images
- Sexualised bullying
- Body image
- Peer Pressure

The resource is based on research conducted with young people who have reflected how they could have been better supported through their teenage years.

Here is the link to the guidance:

We feel this guidance is a very interesting and user friendly resource that we hope will help you reflect on how to discuss certain topics, particularly as your children are growing up in a digital age that is unfamiliar to the one that we, as parents, grew up in.

Best wishes

Mr Warwood
